ESI CosMik Lav

logo not found or type unknown

cosMik Lav is very easy to use and works with most audio and video recording apps, providing you with a hands-free solution to capture natural and clear sound of speeches, lectures, interviews, dictations and much more. The polar pattern of cosMik Lav is omnidirectional, which means that you will get a perfect response even if the speaker is moving while recording.

The special connector makes it possible to connect your headset at the same time - providing you with a quick and easy solution to playback and listen to your recordings without unplugging the microphone first.

The included clip can be attached to your shirt or lapel and the foam pop shield softens the voice and shields from wind noise.

There is also a pouch included, for convenient storage and transport.
