Superior Acoustic Isolation

IsoAcoustics are renowned for their studio monitor/speaker stands, providing superior acoustic isolation, thanks to their patented technology and years of expertise. The ISO 155 Studio Monitor Stands are designed for medium-sized studio monitors. The robust yet sleek build utilises unique isolation technology, resulting in improved audio reproduction and accuracy. They work by eliminating energy transfer between the studio monitor and your desktop surface. The result is improved imaging, enhanced bass response and high-end clarity. The stands are perfect for mixing and mastering applications, providing a clearer image of your mix with unparalleled accuracy. They are ideal for a range of users from bedroom music producers to professional studio engineers.

14 Height/Tilt Variations

The thing that sets the ISO 155s apart from conventional stands is the versatile positioning options. The stands provide 14 variations of height and tilt adjustment, designed to optimise your listening position and placement of your monitors. This can be useful for finding the sweet spot for mixing. They are ideal for use with studio monitors, home theatre systems and even sound reinforcement.
