LOW-FOG EFFECTS, DEMYSTIFIED
Want to know the secret of low-fog effects seen on Hollywood films, Broadway and West End shows, and every production in-between? The answer is JEM Low-Fog products. A smart alternative to dangerous CO^2, N7, or dry ice. Our JEM Low-Fog Glaciator when used in combination with any of our three low-fog effects fluids produces the industry standard low-fog effect. A breath-taking low-fog that creeps across the most storied stages in the world becoming a character of its own, providing billowy white mesmerizing clouds at actors' and dancers' feet. Our effects engineers have worked hand in hand with leading effect artists, directors and producers to craft the ideal range of fluids to create these stunning effects.

MARTIN HERITAGE
For 30 years, the Martin brand has been the leading choice of professional lighting designers, rental and production houses, and installers across the global architectural, commercial, and entertainment lighting markets. The JEM series, a founding family of products by Martin, is bringing its industry-leading excellence in atmospheric effects to new audiences by manufacturing premium products with a die-hard dedication to quality assurance and our customers.

PREMIUM EFFECTS FLUIDS BY MARTIN
Martin fluids are produced at our state-of-the-art, semi-automated fluid production facility in the United Kingdom. A virtually sterile environment is our guarantee of a pure and precise product that delivers the same effect over and over again. This means that Martin fluid never comes in contact with the environment, or humans, thereby ensuring a 100% bacteria free and sterile fluid. Our production facility is ISO 9001 accredited, an internationally recognized standard of quality in manufacturing standards, documentation and administrative procedures ensuring superior quality and safety of the materials being used in our fluids. Nowhere else in the industry will you find the same attention to detail, safety and environmental consciousness. Martin fluids are also widely available throughout the world ensuring your show will go on.
